AI Assessment

$1,500

Due once the report is delivered

Three hours on site at your business talking through how it runs and where technology and AI fit. Within 10 days you get a written report with your first steps in priority order, and we go through it together in a one-hour online review. Thursdays or Fridays, morning or afternoon. If you continue to Base Camp, this fee goes toward it.

HOW IT WORKS

Before

A short questionnaire. Tell me about your business before I arrive. The more you share up front, the more we get done on site.

02

Three hours on site

How work really gets done today, how much is automated or captured digitally, where technology and AI fit and where they don't, your data and the tools you already pay for.

03

Report and review

A written assessment with your first steps in priority order, delivered within 10 days. We go through it together in a one-hour online review.

WHAT I LOOK AT

- The work: the real workflow in your environment
- The technology: what's in use, what works and what doesn't
- The culture: who on your team can be a builder
- Your data, its security, and the tools you already pay for

WHAT YOU WALK AWAY WITH

- How work flows through the business today
- Where technology and AI fit, and where they don't
- The workflows worth redesigning
- Your first steps, in priority order

ABOUT ME

I'm Greg Howell. I've been an owner of Flexo Concepts, a Plymouth manufacturer, for 25 years, and I've implemented technology inside running businesses for 40. Tech enablement at Flexo covers the entire business: sales, marketing, manufacturing, engineering, accounting and supply chain. Today it runs paperless, with all-digital workflows.

MY GOAL

To show you there's a real path to doing this yourselves. The assessment is as much about workflow as technology: often the biggest gain is redesigning the work, and AI now makes it practical to build the redesigned version.
