Coaching

10 hours, used within 8 weeks

Ten hours of hands-on coaching for you and your team, in four or five sessions of about two hours, all within eight weeks. We work on your real problems with Claude: setting up projects and skills, connecting the tools you already use, and building the habits that make AI part of everyday work. Online, or on site if you're local.

HOW IT WORKS

01

Pick your priorities

We start from your assessment report, or a short call, and agree what to tackle first. You decide what we work on.

02

Work side by side

Online or at your business, we build on your real work. I drive at first, then you take the keyboard.

03

Keep what you build

Everything we make lives in your own Claude account and systems, so your team can use it and build on it.

WHAT WE CAN WORK ON

- Review your Claude setup
- Connect Claude to your systems
- Build skills for recurring work
- Artifacts: trackers, reports, dashboards
- Train your team

WHAT YOU WALK AWAY WITH

- Working tools your team uses every day
- Skills and projects in your own account
- People who know how to keep building
- A clear list of what to do next
- No long-term commitment

ABOUT ME

I'm Greg Howell. I've been an owner of Flexo Concepts, a Plymouth manufacturer, for 25 years, and I've implemented technology inside running businesses for 40. Tech enablement at Flexo covers the entire business: sales, marketing, manufacturing, engineering, accounting and supply chain. Today it runs paperless, with all-digital workflows.

MY GOAL

To get you to the point where you don't need me. Coaching turns the first steps from your assessment into tools your team runs every day, and the confidence to build the next ones yourselves.
